Reasons for Allowance

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

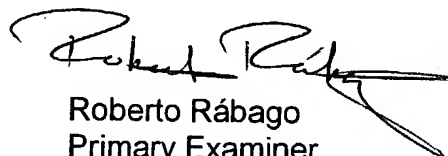

The prior art has described catalytic polymerization of olefins using transition metal complexes comprising indenoidolyl ligands, wherein the ligands are either bridged or unbridged, the complex further being supported (US 6,559,251). Also disclosed are bimetallic complexes comprising such ligands (US 6,414,162). However, the instant claims differ from the teachings of the prior art in the requirement that both a bridged and an unbridged indenoidolyl complex must be present and separately supported. No motivation can be found for modifying the teachings of the prior art to emerge with the claimed catalyst composition or polymerization method.
